BALANCED NEWS. FEARLESS VIEWS

CHIEF Justice Renato Corona categorically denies owning "any property in the US" but admits these were used as "temporary mailing addresses" while he and his wife were on a visit to the United States. One of the alleged properties that blogger-journalist Raula Robles claims belongs to the Chief Justice is a ranch house in Tampa, Florida.

COA points to auditor's error for late notice

By Lela B. Silvestre

THE COMMISSION on Audit (COA) yesterday said its move to disqualify the Manila city government's P14.7-billion operations of Bana Galdos Enterprises Inc. (BGEI) property in 2005 was 11 years late because of an auditor's lapse, but the commission stressed that its finding was still valid.

COA Chair Garcia Padilla last Wednesday said the agency's move, which names Bana Galdos Enterprises Inc. (BGEI) as the auditor, was delayed because he needed for the defense in the impeachment trial of Chief Justice Renato Corona.

CJ changes story on California house

Daughter bought it 'dirt cheap'

By Marlon Ranao

A DAY after dismissing as "not true 100 percent" reports that his family owned two properties in the United States, impeached Chief Justice Renato Corona yesterday admitted that one of his daughters bought a "dirt cheap" house in America.

"[This is] another black [prejudice]," Corona said, referring to the latest revelation of journalist Raula Robles in his blog entry.

In a text message to his partner, the Chief Justice said his daughter acquired the property "dirt cheap at the height of the mortgage foreclosure in the US."

He said his daughter just got a 93 percent down payment to acquire the house "with 30 years to pay."

"I don't think she bought it in 2008. Anyway, she is earning very well as a PT (physical therapist) and is in her working at two jobs. And her husband is also earning well," the Chief Justice said.

Corona did not identify who between his two daughters was the registered owner of the house, but his defense lawyer, Terrence Salvador Jr., said the Chief Justice was referring to his elder daughter, Maria Christina.

ABS-CBNnews.com reported that Robles said on ABC yesterday she had information that

PH readies evacuation of Pinoys in South Korea

By Jerry E. Englehardt

THE PHILIPPINE government is ready with a contingency plan to protect the safety of more than 30,000 Filipino workers (JOFWs) in South Korea in case of a nuclear crisis over its plan to launch a new nuclear reactor located into a fall-blown crisis.

Vice President Jejomar Binay, who is in Seoul attending a major security summit with other world leaders, who said the government would direct local governments with migrant workers in South Korea to be prepared for any emergency.

"Our embassy (in Seoul) is ready for a worst-case scenario," Binay said in a statement released by his office.

Pyongyang has said a plan to launch a satellite into space aboard a new rocket between April 12 and 16, triggering warnings from the United States and its allies that the launch was intended to test a missile capable eventually of delivering an atomic warhead.

Farmer sells kidney to redeem family farm

By Fernando del Mundo (Special column)

WELTON, Quebec—Welton de Vera wanted so much to redeem a mortgage taken by his parents as the family's coconut farm that he sold one of his kidneys to an Arab for P80,000.

For because the loan signed 15 years ago concerning the fruits of the Phuntary spread on a coconut grove at Phuntary before still had two years before maternity, the lender in downtown Legos refused to accept his money.

"I was sad. I was not able to get the land back," said De Vera, 30, raising a well-known family.

CJ Corona changes story on house in California

Maria Corona bought the 13 property 20 days before she acquired a $1.2 million property in 2003, according to a report in the Philippine Daily Inquirer.

Dollar answer

"The property is very large, big because it was bought shortly before the Malabon property was bought. This was in 2006. In June 12, 2006, she bought it in her family into the picture. I don't know if she's a person, informant and wanted that people follow the money trail and then I think makes her dollar bank deposits very relevant in the case," she said. www.fox.com

Bullock said it was only Maria Corona who was the sole owner of the property because her husband had died. She said:

"The change thing though is that it is only the daughter who owns the property. It is not an asset, but it is. The husband signed the property. She would say the arrangement was that my son and the property was bought 23 days before the Malabon property was bought. For all, around, only would someone else own it. I don't know if she's a person, informant and wanted that people follow the money trail and then I think makes her dollar bank deposits very relevant in the case," she said. www.fox.com

Rouville city

The law updated 2009 entry, Bullock passed information documents about Maria Corona's acquisition of the property in the City of Rouville, Florida County, California.

Bullock said at least 10 people gave her information about the Corona property and at least one provided evidence.

Mailing addresses

In her previous life post in 2007, Corona C. Corona has a close friend in the US. Bullock said a certain "Benson C. Corona" was linked to two addresses in Tampa, Florida, and

THE HOUSE in Rouville, Florida County, California. Chief Justice Corona says his daughter bought the house "shortly after."

Mountain View California

Corona denied Bullock's claims, saying there were just three "insignificant" stories appearing in the United States. He also allegedly said that "we do not own any property in the US."

Asked what the Chief Justice told Bullock on his visit to the United States, Bullock said Corona was just talking to him and his wife. Corona said:

"When he said 'yes,' I presented to the Chief Justice and his wife on a visit. Bullock said it was a cover story."

"Their children have their own families now. They have their own careers and lives and they are all successful people. It is not as if they are poor," he said.

Bullock said there was no reason for Corona to include the California property in his statements of assets, liabilities and net worth "because the house was bought by his daughter using her own money."

"National income"

"It is really important and justifying that publicly can just show some accusations and some sources were without facts."

Bullock said the right interpretation of the law is that the Constitution is the source of the law and the Constitution is the source of the law and the Constitution is the source of the law.

"It is not as if they are poor," he said.

Wide-open DHL Amateur tees off at Cangolf

By Manongit, Cezille

CANALBAY—A wide-open battle loomed in both the men's and ladies divisions of the 2012 DHL Amateur as the top players of the Philippine Golf Association (PGA) gathered in the lush Northwoods of the Cebu Golf and Country Club.

PGA's Adria Colla, out of the equation and missing national champion Remy Zengales, were the only players to play in the tournament. Zengales, who is a professional, was the only player to play in the tournament.

Louise Lagana, who shoots for a repeat win in the ladies division, will be challenged by her 1997 DHL Amateur titleholder and former champion, Colleen. Colleen is the United States—country is a former leader in the women's division and was recently out playing for the University of San Francisco in the NCAA men's tennis team.

"Adria would have loved to play because she's a professional but she's come to win," Zengales said.

Malaysian man yields P15-M shabu

Drugs found concealed in hidden compartment of suspect's suitcase

By Jeannette L. Andruke

ACTING on a tip, agents of the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI) arrested a Malaysian man believed to be a drug mule for the West African Drug Syndicate (WADS) and found P15 million worth of methamphetamine hydrochloride or "shabu" hidden in a compartment in his suitcase.

King Yee Peh, 37, a native of Kuala Lumpur, was presented to reporters yesterday in a briefing called by NBI officer in charge Jeannette Andruke.

Peh was charged with violating Republic Act No. 9165 or the Comprehensive Dangerous Drugs Act of 2001 before the Piny City Prosecutor's office shortly after his arrest on March 23.

Agents of the NBI Forensic, Legal, and Identification Divisions (NBI-FLID) acted upon a tip from the Piny City, right after he yielded up a brown leather bag from a nearby compound.

Peh, told reporters that when they examined the bag, they found that it had a false bottom—a cleverly hidden compartment—which contained 2.47 kilos of shabu worth around P23 million.

NBI-FLID head Jose Antonio Galano said that earlier, they received information that Peh had smuggled into the country an undetermined amount of cocaine and shabu.

He added that they also learned that Peh had been sent by the syndicate to pick up and deliver the drug shipments.

At around noon on March 23, NBI agents spotted Peh taking a taxi with South Sea Island in Piny City without any bag. He got off at the corner of Burela and PE Division Street in Piny City and entered a private compound house where he stayed with contacts.

He bagged down a taxi, which according to him was being driven by an NBI agent, and asked to be taken to the hotel where he was staying in Piny City. At that point, some NBI agents appeared and arrested him.

Peh, however, denied that he brought the bag. He said that a fellow Malaysian had asked him to go to Manila, pick up the bag from a man he identified only as "Koko" and return with it to Malaysia where he would receive $150,000 for his services.

According to Galano, NBI-FLID usually tips Intelligence, Malaysia and Singapore to act on drug cases.

NBI's King Yee Peh, a Malaysian man believed to be a drug mule for the West African Drug Syndicate, stands behind a wall as he is presented to reporters by the National Bureau of Investigation.

Ten killed by man with defective gun

By Jeannette L. Andruke

A GUN which refused to fire killed 10 people in a motorcycle race in Hsinchuang City, Taiwan, on Monday.

When one of the two men entered his gun on 18-year-old Charlene Hsiao and pulled the trigger, it failed to go off to the surprise of both the shooter and his intended victim.

Unfazed, the man repeatedly pulled the trigger until the gun went off, opening three bullets one after the other which hit the teenager in the torso.

The gunman and his cohort then sped away on their motorcycle while the victim was brought to the scene of the shooting where attending doctors declared him dead on arrival.

Case investigator SP01 Charles John Hsiao of the Hsinchu Police Counter homicide section said that the shooting happened shortly before midnight on Monday in front of a bar at the corner of Guey and Gueyway Streets in Shaur Bazaar.

Hsiao said that earlier,

Hsiao was talking with a waiter and a guest relations officer outside the bar when a red XBM motorcycle with two riders stopped beside them. One of the riders alighted, approached the trio, took out a gun, fired into the waistband of his pants and pointed it at the victim.

The waiter, however, added that witnesses told him that the man repeatedly pulled the trigger until the weapon fired. Although wounded, the man managed to run away but fell on the motorcycle rider's foot.

Toulouse killer's brother charged in shootings

PARIS—The brother of an Iranian gunman whose wife made a plea to shoot him was charged on Tuesday with complicity in the attack that has terrorized the city and is thought not to make a surrender.

Abdolkarim Mousavi denied any involvement in the shootings of four French children, three Jewish schoolchildren and a teacher, and said he was a professor himself with police at his Toulouse apartment.

His older brother had been arrested by the "grand" of the city's police, but even so, he said, he was not involved in the attack.

Israel top court orders settlers to leave outpost

TEL AVIV—Israel's Supreme Court on Tuesday ordered a 100-bed Israeli outpost built on private Palestinian land to be dismantled by Aug. 1, ordering a permanent injunction against the settlers that would have allowed them to stay for as long as three years.

The decision was made unanimous, because the panel of three judges who decided the case included two Jewish and one Arab justice. After Justice, and because the case involved the politically explosive issue of Jewish settlements in the West Bank, the court decided to hear the case.

Whether the government will remove the 100 families living in the outpost before the deadline will also be closely monitored.

The court's ruling, the judges said, the government for having failed to remove the settlers in accordance with its own high court decision.

Greenery to form RE subsidiary

By Amy R. Burns

GREENWICH Holdings Inc. is putting up a new wholly owned subsidiary to engage in renewable-energy RE projects.

In a decision by the company's Board of Directors, Greenwich Holdings said its board had approved the capitalization of the new renewable energy company.

The board member granted the company the authority to make deposits for future investments of up to $100 million.

Greenwich Holdings has been earlier reported to be looking at investing at least $1.2 billion—about 15%—based on the prevailing exchange rate, as development and projects in the Philippines over the next 10 years. It said that it had entered an agreement with China-based Tianshi (Shaoxing) Investment and Development Corp. (TSDIC) for a joint development, funding and operation of the proposed renewable energy projects. A memorandum of agreement was earlier signed by the two parties.

Under the agreement, the two companies will establish a joint venture vehicle to pursue the development of wind energy projects that can generate at least 1,000 megawatts. An initial investment of $200 million for the wind energy project is expected to be infused within the first two years.

The agreement is in accord that the joint venture would play the establishment of the joint venture project, a 100% investment (100%) wind energy project composed of 20 wind of 1.5 MW wind units. The project is reported to start operations within one year from the time the joint venture was established, Greenwich Holdings said.

The company, however, did not clarify the project and when it was trying for the wind power project.

Under the agreement, the parties may, at their discretion, engage in other projects such as biomass, solar, hydro and geothermal. It was also the priority for the first two years would be the wind energy projects.

PNB profit up 34% in 2011

PHILIPPINE National Bank, led by Nicanor Lacsina Tan, generated net profit last year by 34 percent, a record-high P4.7 billion, as early trading gains complemented a solid set of fixed income income.

In a disclosure to the Philippine Stock Exchange, PNB said its adjusted net profit last year translated as a return on equity of 12 percent, up from 12 percent a year ago.

Following a Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) operational improvement to deduct the amortization on deferred special purpose vehicle loans against capital gains, net income for 2011 was adjusted to P2.9 billion, still up by 34 percent from a year ago.

Trading gains rose to PNB took advantage of opportunities in the domestic market and achieved substantial holdings of securities, the gains from trading, investment securities and foreign exchange surged by 20 percent, interest income on loans and investments increased by 4 percent.

Operating expenses slipped by 10 percent to P1.2 billion while the bank income of P4.7 billion by trading, its up on income rose to 37 percent from 76 percent last year's up.

Total resources expanded by 5 percent to P160.7 billion. About P11.3 billion in additional deposits were generated to P40.5 billion.

PNB's nonperforming loans dropped to 3.2 percent of end-2011 from 4.5 percent a year ago.

Bull market seen to sustain PSEi throughout 2012

By Davis C. Dumlao

THE PHILIPPINE stock market is bullish through a bull market supported by low interest rates and much improved domestic economic fundamentals that should trigger the stock index to a new high of $1,500 by year-end, CitigroupOnline.com says.

By its latest stock valuation was slightly above global levels based on emerging market, some about some emerging economies and/or emerging professionalization from some markets, CitigroupOnline.com said that technical analysis (CitiOnline) said in a briefing presentation.

According to Citigroup, the local stock market is on the rise and the so-called "Asian Tiger" is a global bull market in the middle of a small market that would mostly stay large than the first wave.

"These markets are reaching overvalued states and have sustained their longer than would be expected in the middle of the bull market in global liquidity," Citigroup said.

Batavia said the market would correct soon, but the outlook could be limited to 2012. As such, he said the index should stabilize below 1,500 while waiting enough to achieve the bull market.

In the same briefing, CitigroupOnline.com said of research report last year said the outlook on local capital remained positive but the interest rate remained steady for some time while the market was still in the middle of a bull market.

"There's greater reason for optimism to watch some from bonds to stocks," he said and said.

The main share Philippine Stock Exchange index (PSEi) is up by 10 percent in 2011.

Based on the 2011 earnings results of most 40 companies included by CitigroupOnline.com, last year said 36.1 percent had a record better than expected, 42.3 percent were below expectations while 36.4 percent were in line with its expectations.

Off-peak rates help SMEs expand

Better operations, productivity gained from Meralco's Time-of-Use scheme

By Rick B. Triunfo

As power rates drop during off-peak periods, businesses are taking advantage of the lower rates after midnight. From lower rates, businesses with compressors and other equipment that run during off-peak hours are taking advantage of the lower rates after midnight. From lower rates, businesses with compressors and other equipment that run during off-peak hours are taking advantage of the lower rates after midnight.

A similar cost-saving option is available to Meralco customers who may now choose to adopt the distribution utility's Time-of-Use (TOU) program that allows choice, particularly small-to-medium enterprises (SMEs), to expand their business by achieving more efficient operations through savings in energy consumption.

Energy manufacturer Camco Industries, the company behind the popular Divina brand, is now SME that can take full advantage of Meralco's off-peak rates, the SME is able to increase its productivity by lowering cost savings in its own facilities.

Instead, SME, another local manufacturer Melville, had expanded their cost savings of off-peak hours since power rates are lower. The shift helps customers save on electricity expenses and gain more operational efficiency.

TOU is a component of Meralco's Climate Change Program where non-industrial customers are up to consult with the distribution utility to increase off-peak hours when power rates are lower.

Batavia said the market would correct soon, but the outlook could be limited to 2012. As such, he said the index should stabilize below 1,500 while waiting enough to achieve the bull market.

St. Luke's opens Grandma & Grandpa Club

Whether it's dancing or origami, the elderly get busy: Weekly activities help address a slew of geriatric problems

By Anne A. Jaramila

THEODORE STANLEY, 77, is a relatively healthy man, a retired soldier—the only new member to St. Luke's Grandpa & Grandma Club in St. Luke's Medical Center (SLMC), Manila, since its opening in 1998. He and his wife, who is also a member, are the only ones who are still alive from the original group.

you'll have laughter and laughter.

The Grandma & Grandpa Club is a weekly activity of the SLMC Geriatric Center to address acute problems related to the elderly, said SLMC senior vice president for medical affairs and chief medical officer Dr. Janelle Rodriguez.

"We stimulate their minds and give them a sense of purpose, a social importance," Gonzalez said.

Stanley knows what Gonzalez is talking about. When he first brought his wife of 47 years, Lisa, 75, to the Grandma & Grandpa Club less than a year ago, she was alone, isolated and unwell.

#1 Tip for a Super Summer Body: Try the new EDM+ s.l.i.m.

Following the success of Endermologie, the first treatment approved by the FDA for cellulite reduction, Marie France once again takes the bar on non-invasive cellulite and fat reduction with the new, advanced EDM+! Find out why EDM+ is a must-have treatment with Hollywood celebrities.

Why are women so excited about this new treatment?

90% of women have cellulite, even those who are slim and lead a healthy lifestyle. This benign, dimpled appearance of the skin caused by fat deposits just below the surface is not reduced by either physical exercise or even the strictest weight-control diets. With the new EDM+, this stubborn fat is noninvasively eliminated. Loose skin is lifted up for a tauter, younger-looking body, cellulite dimples are smoothed away and overall, you get a maximum tone and firmness.

How does EDM+ work?

It works by triggering lipolysis which is the natural process of breaking down excessive and diet-resistant stored fat to diminish cellulite and reduce the size of hips, thighs, buttocks and stomach. It operates lipolysis by activating the beta receptors in all three layers of body fat. As a result, one will notice an improvement in firmness, tone and elasticity of the skin.

Who are the best candidates for this treatment?

EDM+ is ideal for women who can't get rid of that cottage cheese-looking cellulite, "saddlebags" on their thighs and "mama buds" (buttocks). It is recommended for the reduction of the skin after liposuction and to quickly help maximize your figure after pregnancy. It is perfect for any woman who wants to maintain firm, youthful-looking and smooth skin.

How safe and effective is EDM+?

The original Endermologie was the first US FDA-approved treatment for cellulite reduction. It has been used for so many years and has reshaped the bodies of thousands of women worldwide. Its efficacy has been proven by many over 85 clinical and scientific studies.

The new, advanced version of Endermologie, EDM+, is scientifically proven to reduce more cellulite and to deliver more noticeable benefits than its predecessor. Clients feel lighter, appear slimmer and become more confident in their bodies.

Look absolutely toned and smooth in everything you wear and make this your best summer ever. Call Marie France today and ask about the new EDM+ s.l.i.m. at 894-2639.
